Senator Brewster Begins Another Term in Pa Senate

On January 13, 2021, state Senator Jim Brewster (D) was sworn in for another term in the Pennsylvania State Senate, serving constituents in portions of Allegheny and Westmoreland Counties.

"It is an honor and privilege to serve the citizens in the 38 communities that are a part of the 45th District," Brewster said. "I will continue to pursue a broad agenda that is focused on families.

"My legislative proposals include measures to promote job creation, economic development, tax relief, education support and safety, and help for those who are in need."

The lawmaker has also proposed plans to help small businesses and families during the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as to institute a responsible energy extraction tax on Marcellus Shale drillers and to use the revenue to fund education and environmental protection. He is also the prime sponsor of a package of bills to reform the legislature and make it more transparent, including eliminating per diems, state vehicles, and a gift ban.

Brewster was first elected to the Senate in a special election in 2010. He was re-elected in 2012, 2016, and 2020.

Brewster said there are great challenges ahead for lawmakers this session. A budget deficit and the continuing challenges from the pandemic, he said. Even amid these substantive and difficult issues, he said that there was an opportunity to address issues involving local government.

"As the former mayor of McKeesport, I know the difficulties that economically-stressed communities face," Brewster said. "Lawmakers in Harrisburg also need to focus on addressing the problems of small cities and struggling communities across Pennsylvania."

- Sen. Carolyn Comitta
Named Democratic Chair of

Senate Environmental Committee; Priorities: Climate Change, Renewable Energy

On January 15, Sen. Carolyn Comitta (D-Chester) <https://www.pasenatorcomitta.com/> was named Democratic Chair of the Senate Environmental Resources and Energy Committee, a leadership position that brings new opportunities to continue and expand her long-standing record of service as an environmental champion.

“Protecting our environment and safeguarding our natural resources is a tremendous responsibility, one that I deeply respect and continue to hold near and dear to my heart,” Sen. Comitta said. “Every day we are reminded that we only get one planet and that our environment has significant and long-standing impacts on our public health, safety, economy, and nearly every aspect of life in our communities. I am honored to be appointed minority chair of this committee and look forward to working in a bipartisan manner for a cleaner, greener, and brighter future for all of Pennsylvania.”

Sen. Comitta said her top environmental priorities include addressing the growing climate crisis by supporting Pennsylvania’s participation in the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative and updating the Commonwealth’s Alternative Energy Portfolio Standards Act.

She said that taking urgent action to reduce carbon emissions and invest in the clean energy economy would help drive Pennsylvania toward the goal of 100 percent clean energy by 2050.

“I’m confident that Senator Comitta will take her years of experience in the private sector and in the Pennsylvania House to immediately get to work as Democratic chair of the Environmental Resources and Energy Committee. In her short time as a Senator already, she has proposed excellent initiatives in this field and I know she will guide this committee expertly,” said Sen. Jay Costa (D-Allegheny), the Senate Democratic Leader.

Prior to being elected State Senator, Comitta served as State Representative for the 156th Legislative District.

There, she served as Secretary of the Environmental Resources and Energy Committee and in leadership positions on the Pennsylvania Joint Legislative Air and Water Pollution Control and Conservation Committee and the Climate Caucus.

In the Senate, she continues to support the work of the Joint Conservation Committee and serves on the Climate Caucus.

In addition to being named minority chair of the Environmental Resources and Energy Committee, Sen. Comitta was appointed to serve on the following committees: Agriculture and Rural Affairs, Consumer Protection and Professional Licensure, Health and Human Services, and Veterans Affairs and Emergency Preparedness.

Sen. Comitta said she continues to focus her efforts on combating the significant and extensive public health and economic impacts of the coronavirus pandemic by supporting and launching initiatives that will help Pennsylvania defeat the virus and emerge stronger, healthier, and more resilient.

“The vaccine is here, but we must redouble our efforts to stop the spread while we work to make it available to everyone,” she said. “The more lives we save through prevention now, the more lives we can protect through vaccination later.”

In November, Sen. Comitta was elected to the 19th District, the seat vacated by the retirement of Sen. Andy Dinniman (D-Chester). She is the first woman to hold the seat.

Sen. Comitta will serve with Democratic committee members Lisa Boscola (D-Lehigh), Katie Muth (D-Montgomery) and Steve Santarsiero (D-Bucks).

Republican leadership has again named Sen. Gene Yaw (R-Lycoming) Majority Chair of the Committee, but have not yet named Republican members of the Committee.

Sen. Gene Yaw (R-Lycoming) serves as Majority Chair of the Senate Environmental Committee and can be contacted by calling 717-787-3280 or sending email to: gyaw@pasen.gov. Sen. Carolyn Comitta (D-Chester) serves as Minority Chair and can be contacted by calling 717-787-5709 or sending email to: senatorcomitta@pasenate.com.

Speaker Announces Special Election for the 59th District

On January 12, 2021, Speaker of the House Bryan Cutler (R-Lancaster) ordered a special election to coincide with Pennsylvania's primary election on Tuesday, May 18, to fill the vacant seat in the 59th Legislative District in Westmoreland and Somerset counties.

The vacancy was created by the sudden passing of Rep. Mike Reese (R-Westmoreland/Somerset).

"Rep. Reese set an example for every legislator to follow, and he is greatly missed in the chamber by members and close friends on both sides of the aisle," Cutler said. "His commitment to his family and his constituents could never be questioned, and he leaves enormous shoes to fill on our House Republican leadership team."

Candidates for the office will be selected by a process designated by their respective political parties, and the winner of the special election will take office after the results are confirmed.

The district office will remain open, under supervision of the House, to assist constituents with issues or problems and to continue constituent inquiries already in progress. The office will remain open until a new representative takes office and decides how to manage the district.

The 59th Legislative District office at 2230 Mount Pleasant Road, Mount Pleasant, can be reached by phone at 724-423-6503 and the district office at Ligonier Town Hall, 120 E. Main St., Ligonier, can be reached at 724-238-2155.

House Republicans Prioritizing Economic

Recovery Policy in New Session

Pennsylvania House Majority Leader Kerry Benninghoff (R-Centre/Mifflin) announced at a January 12th press conference at the state Capitol the formation of a caucus task force that will examine and develop economic recovery policy for the current legislative session.

Joined by members of the Economic Recovery Task Force and other House Republicans, Benninghoff noted Pennsylvania must work to align its incredible home-grown assets with opportunities for economic growth.

"As we began this session, I made it a priority to develop a working group of lawmakers from across Pennsylvania, with varied backgrounds, to put their heads together to help inform my office about what economic recovery legislation should look like," Benninghoff said.

"Their charge is simple: Examine how we got here and develop and strategize legislative and policy ideas to kick-start the economy and make Pennsylvania the 'envy of the East.'"

Rep. Aaron Kaufer (R-Luzerne) is coordinating the efforts of the task force.

"I am proud and eager to have the honor of leading the newly established Economic Recovery Task Force," said Kaufer. "It is time to get Pennsylvania back on its feet and onto a path of economic recovery in a safe and effective manner. My colleagues and I plan on looking into legislative solutions that can offer Pennsylvania businesses owners the opportunity to again expand their livelihood, hire additional staff and do what they love most - provide to their community. With difficult challenges come great opportunities and we are faced with the opportunity to not only recover but come back stronger."

Task force member Wendi Thomas (R-Bucks) discussed how her background can help focus the group's efforts on attracting new businesses as part of growth and recovery plans.

"We are obligated to repair the financial damage caused by the ramifications of COVID-19," Thomas said. "We must help Pennsylvania's businesses rebound from this crisis and thrive, but we must also focus on attracting new businesses to our state through economic policies that remove the obstacles to economic growth. In the end, the work of this task force will create a roadmap for helping businesses flourish and stand strong in the face of any future crisis."

House State Government Committee Approves Slate of Bills to Improve How State Government Operates

Believing state government should operate in the most efficient manner possible, the House State Government Committee approved a series of bills during its first meeting of the 2021-22 session, Chairman Seth Grove (R-Dover) announced.

"As we set about doing the people's work this session, it was important for me, as committee chairman, to not only lead by example but for this committee to also set the tone for the hard work that lays before us," Grove said "The bills the committee approved today are not only clear examples of undertaking difficult work, but also making sure government is also working efficiently and hard for the taxpayers."

Among the bills approved by the committee were three bills to amend the Pennsylvania Constitution, including Grove's House Bill 55. All proposals to amend the Constitution must be approved by the Legislature in two consecutive sessions before the amendment question is placed on the ballot. This process provides voters with the final say on the matters, and if approved, enshrines the measures in the Constitution. The bills approved were:

- House Bill 51 (O’Neal-R): Proposes and amendment to the Pennsylvania Constitution related to Taxation and Finance, providing for restrictions on budgetary surpluses.
<https://www.legis.state.pa.us/cfdocs/billInfo/billInfo.cfm?sYear=2021&sInd=0&body=h&type=b&bn=51>
- House Bill 52 (Lewis-R): Amends Title 72 (Taxation and Fiscal Affairs) to establish the State Council on Finance.
<https://www.legis.state.pa.us/cfdocs/billInfo/billInfo.cfm?sYear=2021&sInd=0&body=h&type=b&bn=52>
- House Bill 55 (Grove-R): Proposes separate and distinct amendments to the Pennsylvania Constitution relating to emergency disaster declarations, nondiscrimination protections and presentment to the governor.
<https://www.legis.state.pa.us/cfdocs/billInfo/billInfo.cfm?sYear=2021&sInd=0&body=h&type=b&bn=55>
- House Bill 71 (Warner-R): Amends the Pennsylvania Constitution to establish limitations on the spending of Commonwealth funds.
<https://www.legis.state.pa.us/cfdocs/billInfo/billInfo.cfm?sYear=2021&sInd=0&body=h&type=b&bn=71>
- House Bill 104 (Gaydos-R): Amends Title 71 (State Government) to add a new chapter relating to the assessment and reduction of improper payments.
<https://www.legis.state.pa.us/cfdocs/billInfo/billInfo.cfm?sYear=2021&sInd=0&body=h&type=b&bn=104>
- House Bill 108 (Owlett-R): Allows participation in the 'Do Not Pay' initiative for agencies managing funds disbursed from the United States Treasury.
<https://www.legis.state.pa.us/cfdocs/billInfo/billInfo.cfm?sYear=2021&sInd=0&body=h&type=b&bn=108>

A similar version of House Bill 55 was approved last session. The measure would ensure residents have a greater influence on emergency declarations through the General Assembly, which would have to approve extending declaration beyond 21 days.

"Considering Pennsylvania residents are still living under a COVID-19 state of emergency declaration, and have been for about 10 months, it is important to move this question to voters quickly," Grove said. "A declaration is meant to allow the governor to quickly address emergencies. It is not a vehicle for a single person to set policy that impacts Pennsylvanians and the state's economy in perpetuity."

Moul Named Chairman of House Agriculture Committee, Member of Tourism Committee

House Republican leaders have announced committee assignments for the 2021-22 Legislative Session, naming Rep. Dan Moul (R-Adams) chairman of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee. Moul, who this month began his eighth term in the House, will also serve on the Tourism and Recreational Development Committee, of which he has been a member since his election to the House.

"As someone who grew up on a farm in rural Adams County and in the shadow of the Civil War battlefields of Gettysburg, I am particularly gratified to serve on House committees that oversee Pennsylvania's two leading industries - agriculture and tourism," said Moul.

"Agriculture and related businesses and the tourism and hospitality industry provide a significant number of jobs here in Adams County and across the Commonwealth and generate billions annually for Pennsylvania's economy. Our Civil War battlefields and related attractions, outdoor recreational areas and miles of trails for hiking and biking, make Adams County an ideal destination for tourists and history buffs," Moul said. "I am happy to have the opportunity to focus on issues affecting today's farmers and farm families here and statewide, and to play a role in shaping the future of Pennsylvania's agriculture and tourism industries."

Freeman reappointed Democratic chairman to the House Local Government Committee

State Rep. Robert Freeman, D-Northampton, has been reappointed Democratic chairman of the House Local Government Committee for the 2021-22 legislative session.

Freeman has served as the Democratic chairman of the House Local Government Committee since 2007. He authored legislation that created the state's Elm Street program, which assists older urban residential areas in revitalizing their neighborhoods. He was also one of the leaders in the Municipalities Planning Code revisions enacted in 2000 that became Acts 67 and 68 of that year.

"I am extremely honored to be reappointed to serve as Democratic chairman of the House Local Government Committee," Freeman said. "Since 2007, my work on this committee has been a reflection of many shared goals with local governments. This committee is one that is vital to implementing legislation to the benefit of all of the communities of Pennsylvania."

Freeman is the longest-serving member in the current Lehigh Valley delegation. He first served from 1982 to 1994 and was re-elected in 1998 and has served since. Freeman will be second in seniority in the entire House of Representatives in the 2021-22 legislative session.

The 136th Legislative District includes Easton, all of Williams and parts of Lower Saucon and Palmer townships, and the boroughs of Freemansburg, Glendon, West Easton, Wilson and Hellertown.

Struzzi Reappointed to PENNVEST Board

At the request of Speaker of the House Bryan Cutler, state Rep. Jim Struzzi (R-Indiana) has accepted an appointment to the Pennsylvania Infrastructure Investment Authority (PENNVEST) for the 2021-22 Legislative Session. Struzzi served in a similar capacity last term following the resignation of Rep. Donna Oberlander (R-Clarion/Armstrong/Forest), who vacated the seat to become majority whip for the House Republican Caucus, and recommended him to fill the vacancy.

"I am honored that Majority Whip Oberlander endorsed me last term and Speaker Cutler felt my work was worthy of reappointment," said Struzzi. "It is an honor to serve in this capacity and play a vital role in maintenance of Pennsylvania's infrastructure needs."

Created in 1988, PENNVEST provides service to the communities and citizens of Pennsylvania by funding sewer, storm water and drinking water projects throughout the Commonwealth. The authority offers low-cost financial assistance to ensure clean water and funds maintenance of water quality in rivers and streams.

"PENNVEST also plays a key economic role in our state in dealing with businesses that are considering relocation and/or expansion into Pennsylvania," Struzzi added. "Now maybe more than ever, creating and maintaining family-sustaining jobs is critical to our growth and return to vibrancy."

Questions about this or any legislative issue should be directed to Struzzi's Indiana district office at 724-465-0220.

EPA Data Shows Release of Toxic Chemicals Down by

11.4 Million Pounds in Mid-Atlantic Region

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has released its 2019 Toxics Release Inventory (TRI) National Analysis, which shows that EPA and companies that manage chemicals continue to make progress in preventing pollution. The report shows that between 2018 and 2019, total releases of TRI chemicals decreased by 9 percent.

For the first time in five years, industrial and federal facilities reported an increased number of new source reduction activities that aim to reduce or eliminate the amount of chemical-containing waste facilities create. Facilities also avoided releasing 89 percent of the chemical-containing waste they created and managed during 2019 into the environment by using preferred practices such as recycling, treatment and energy recovery.

Since 2018, releases of TRI chemicals in EPA's Mid-Atlantic Region decreased by 8 percent (11.4 million pounds). Going back to 2007, releases have decreased by nearly 70 percent (270 million pounds) in the Region, compared to a 19 percent decrease nationally. This large decrease was driven by declining air releases, although releases to water, land and off-site disposal also decreased during this time. For 2019, 7 percent of facilities in the Mid-Atlantic Region reported implementing new source reduction activities. Source reduction reporting rates in the region were among the highest in the plastics/rubber manufacturing sector, where 14 percent of facilities reported source reduction activities.

"The Analysis of TRI data shows that facilities located in the Mid-Atlantic Region have continued the trend of decreasing the release of toxic chemicals," said EPA Regional Administrator Cosmo Servidio. "This data is a tool that can provide important information to the public on chemicals in their community as we work to reduce emissions."

The 2019 TRI National Analysis released today reflects TRI chemical waste management activities, including releases, that occurred during calendar year 2019 and therefore does not indicate any potential impacts of the COVID-19 public health emergency that began in the United States in early 2020. Due to the significant analysis of reported information, this summary and interpretation of the most recent TRI data is released approximately six months after the reporting deadline.

Follow EPA Region 3 on Twitter at <https://twitter.com/eparegion3> and visit our Facebook page, at <http://www.facebook.com/EPAREgion3/>

Background

Thanks to the passage of the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act of 1986 which helped create EPA's Toxics Release Inventory program, Americans now have greater awareness of how chemicals are being managed in their communities. Today, nearly 22,000 facilities report annually on the use and quantities of more than 760 chemicals they release to the environment or otherwise manage as waste to the Toxics Release Inventory (TRI) program. EPA, states, and tribes receive TRI data from facilities in industry sectors such as manufacturing, mining, electric utilities, and commercial hazardous waste management. The Pollution Prevention Act also requires facilities to submit information on pollution prevention and other waste management activities of TRI chemicals.
